Friday, January 4, 1907.

If our big city dailies are pooling the idea of war with Japan as a matter of pacificatory policy, they are not misleading the ordinary reader, and we hope not the heads of our government. It is rather a bitter thought that we Americans wasted so much sympathy during the Russo-Japanese war on the cold-blooded Yaps, and now find that his head is turned and that there is something after all to us in the hooted "yellow peril." The Jap's nature is as cold as that of a well-known Virginia politician about whom one of his friends remarked that "if you stuck a knife in him water would run out, and ice-water at that." The Jap has the swell-head but, and our present strained relations should warn us to be forearmed and not let him catch us napping as he did befogged and plodding Russia. There is no doubt but what Japan is making eyes at the Philippines and under the slightest pretext she would probably gobble them. Of course we would have to send ships to retake them, but without coaling stations anywhere near we could not run our ships, and they would be at Japan's mercy. We could lick Japan on our own or neutral soil, but not right on her "own dunghill." So our government would act wisely in paying Japan right now to take the islands off our hands if she will not receive them as a gift.

WE ARE NOW informed why appendicitis is growing in favor and becoming fashionable. At the Southern Surgical Society in Baltimore recently appendicitis was discussed and it was agreed among the learned, men that it is a disease distinctly belonging to civilization. The more we advance in cultivation the more we become addicted to appendicitis. That must be true, for our fathers used to have colic and cramp, while we are no longer afflicted with these, but are favored with appendicitis (with a long for the middle syllable, everytime). The poor negro, up to date immune, is getting slowly into the effete ranks. Isolated from the white man, however, we are informed, he would be as he is now in Africa—free from the race problem and appendicitis.

More than the usual number of crimes and accidents are recounted because of abuses of Christmas. Prosperity and high living have their drawbacks. We are grateful for all things in moderation, and a country life.

Thanks for the sobriety and order that have been more than apparent on our water courses this holiday season. A few isolated places, only, tried to maintain a lawless reputation.

RESOLVED—That we keep the good resolutions made.

COLORED SOLDIERS

GETTING UP A "REP."

The acts of negro troops are bringing disgrace and hardship upon the race. Prominent Afro-Americans are deprecating the perpetrators and appealing to others of the race to help save the race from the burden these desperadoes are putting upon it. White army officers are now almost unanimous in the opinion that "brass buttons" turn the negro's head and that he must be denied admission to the army as a soldier.

A riot by negroes in Mississippi caused fifty deaths among blacks and whites. Alabama, Louisiana and Florida each had similar troubles.

A negro trooper pushed a lady sprawling from the sidewalk in Oklahoma, and a posse in pursuit of him. Capt. Macin was shot in his room by one of the same troopers.

A Chinaman was killed in the West by members of the same regiment that caused the famous Brownsville, Texas, trouble.

Fourteen soldiers of the Ninth (colored) cavalry caused a riot on a Fort Leavenworth street car, and are in jail. A sergeant of the same troop killed his corporal at a Christmas dinner at Fort Sheridan.

A negro soldier was fined $25 for disorderly conduct in Florida.

A negro killed a white man in South Carolina, was chased, caught and burned at the stake by members of his race.

GAME LAW.

East of the Blue Ridge, where Supervisors do not pass local laws, the law for hunting closes as follows:

January 1st.—Deer, ducks, snipe, sand-pipers, mud-hens and such like.

February 1st.—Partridges, woodcock and turkeys.

No shooting of robins except between February 15 and April 1st.

For this season the Supervisors of Lancaster have not changed the general law as quoted above.

FISH AND OYSTER NOTES

Police steamer Emeline was busy in the Sounds and the Potomac during the holidays.

Ice blocked all oyster work on the bay side of Eastern shore five days last week.

The State Board of Fisheries has bought of E. W. Long, Irvington, the 44-foot gasoline boat "Greyhound" for police service on James River. She is metalled and a good ice breaker, as well as speedy.

State Board of Fisheries meets Tuesday next in Hampton, at which time the chairman and secretary will have report on the Lynhaven deep water applications ratified by the full Board, and announce same.

FISH, CRAB AND OYSTER BIG FIGHT.

(From Norfolk Press.)

For nine hours yesterday the State Board of Fisheries heard testimony and arguments in the cases of seven applicants for deep water fishing privileges.

At 7 o'clock last night the board told the lawyers that they had heard about enough for one day, and asked all to be on hand this morning at 9:30 o'clock, when the arguments will be resumed. The fight for the fishing, oystering and crabbing privileges in the territory between Ocean View and Cape Henry is a hot one, and there were some warm arguments by the lawyers yesterday. In one case two parties are after the same privilege. Fourteen thousand acres between Ocean View and Cape Henry are to be let. The fight waged before the board was not only for the oystering privileges, but the fishermen protested against the territory being let on the ground that the planting of oysters would ruin the fishing industry. There are just two companies applying for the privilege, although there are four others who are awaiting the decisions of the Board. Those applying are Stormont & Co., and Teabault & Brown. Opposed to them are the fishing and crabbing interests. For the applicants, there are Judges Keeling and Ackiss. On the other side are W. W. Old, senior and junior, and J. E. Cole, representing J. W. Buchanan & Sons, the Cape Henry Syndicate and E. W. Tazewell, executor of the estate of Anne E. Bradford; F. G. Newbill, Commonwealth Attorney of Lancaster county, for the Menhaden fisheries, and S. Gordon Cumming, representing the Hampton crabbing industries. This battle will be closely fought, for both sides have much at stake.

(From Hampton Monitor.)

The crab men of Tidewater have another fight on their hands. The crab bill belongs to the past, but a matter even more serious than the provisions of the deceased act is confronting the crab packers today before the Board of Fisheries, which is meeting in Norfolk in special session to hear this matter. While the matter did not become generally known until last Saturday, there is a big fight on by a wealthy corporation composed of Norfolk capitalists to gain control of the most valuable crab grounds in the Chesapeake and its tributaries. The matter was heard by the Board last week, the hearing consuming two days. The meeting was adjourned until today, and perhaps tonight, in order that all the interests offered $25,000 for the lease of these grounds, which are located between the Thimble Light and the Capes, and would cover an area of fifteen (15) square miles. This is practically the cream of the crab grounds. Representatives from the McMenamin, Coston, Jones, Lavallente, Armstrong, Robinson and other crab interests went to Norfolk today.

After nearly four days of hearing testimony and argument the Chairman and Secretary of the State Board of Fisheries, to whom were referred these matters, reserved decision until the Board meeting at Hampton on January, at which time they will make it public.

NEWS ITEMS.

Dr. Foster, of Williamsburg Hospital, deposed by the Board, refuses to surrender his office and will take it to the courts.

Governor Swann has arranged to let the U. S. government have land under the water at the Virginia capes on which to build an island and powerful fort.

Several railroad wrecks ushered out the old year, the worst being one on the B. & O., near Washington, on the 30th, in which forty-four persons were killed and many more injured.

Five hundred horses and mules were burned at Atlanta Christmas morning in a lively stable. The loss is $100,000. The fire started by safe-blowers, who exploded a safe in the office, the shock overturning a lamp.

Fire of unknown origin Christmas day destroyed a great frame and sheetiron building, containing the ship-carpeners', sheetiron and pipefitters' shops and rigging and mould lofts, and threatened to wipe out the entire plant at the works of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company. The total loss is estimated at about $300,000, and is covered by insurance. The Old Dominion liner Jefferson was damaged to the extent of $10,000, and was barely saved from the flames.

Mr. Oscar Flippo, about thirty-five years of age, was accidentally shot by his young son, near his home in Pinola, Caroline county. The entire contents of a shell in a single-barreled shotgun were emptied into the side of Mr. Flippo. A live turkey that was swinging from the shoulder of the wounded man was killed. After passing entirely through the body of the man, the shot penetrated the neck and the head of the boy. From what could be learned, the father and son had gone into the woods after game. His small son was walking slightly in front of him and to the right. Suddenly the boy fell and the gun he was carrying exploded.

POLITICAL.

A Republican Governor and the balance of the New York State ticket Democrats were sworn into office Tuesday.

Dr. J. W. Simmons has decided not to contest the seat of Judge Sanders, Democrat, elected to Congress from the Fifth Virginia District.

SOME BOAT NOTES.

An opposition company to the B. C. & A., with $250,000 capital, has bought two steamers in New York to run on the Choptank route.

A. P. Seth, secretary to manager Thomson, has been promoted to assistant manager of the Md., Del. & Va. and the B. C. & A. lines.

A fog, almost unparalleled for density, covered the Atlantic seaboard the past week, disarranging schedules of even the larger steamer lines, and causing some mishaps.

Steamer Owen Dillard is on Owen's Railway being overhauled and put in good shape to go on the mail route now piloted by steamer Dr. W. J. Newbill, which boat will ply between these parts and Jamestown Exposition during the coming spring and summer.

The fast launch Greyhound has been converted into an oyster police boat, Brewington, Hudson and Messick remodelers, with living and cooking rooms. The houses from the "Blanche" have been used for this purpose. A cannon will be mounted on her bow. She goes to the James River tonight.

Tomorrow, Jan. 5th, winter schedule of steamers of the Md., Del. & Va. Ry. Co. will begin. There will be only two steamers a week to and from Fredericksburg. Friday at 4:30 p.m., a steamer will leave Baltimore for river landings and Fredericksburg, leaving that city in returning Monday 2 p. m. Steamer goes to Norfolk Tuesday night, returning leaves Norfolk Wednesday at 8 p. m., making all landings and reaching Fredericksburg Thursday night, leaving that city Friday 2 p. m. for river landings and Baltimore. No steamer from Leedstown tomorrow, or to Norfolk. Steamer Potomac will take up new schedule at Tappahannock, en route to Baltimore tomorrow. The full new schedule is published on our fourth page.

Lee Morrison and Miss Janie Covington, both of Fairfield, Northumberland county, were married December 22 in Fairfield M. P. church, Rev. W. F. Wooden officiating. After a short trip north Mr. and Mrs. Morrison will reside in Reedville.

Mr. Ferd Walker, of Bertrand, Va., and Miss Maggie Haywood, of White Chapel, were married on Sunday last at the home of W. F. Carter, near Millenbeck, Rev. W. F. Dunaway performing the ceremony. They will make their home at Bertrand.

Cards are out for the marriage of Miss Caroline Elizabeth Carlson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Carlson, of Westmoreland county, to H. H. Harrison, of Northumberland county. The ceremony will take place January 20th, 7:30 p. m., in Carmel Methodist church, Westmoreland.

A surprise marriage, but very pleasant one, occurred at the Episcopal rectory in Urbanna, at 5 p. m. Christmas day, when Mr. Meredith Bonner, of Kilmarnock, Lancaster county, was united in wedlock to Miss Inez Upton, a popular young lady of Urbanna. The young people came over the night following and participated in the Holly Festival at Kilmarnock.

Mr. J. Gilliam Connelly and Miss Emily D. Delano were married at the home of the bride at 12:45 p. m. Wednesday, December 26th. Mr. Connelly is an enterprising young business man of Mila, Va., and Miss Delano is the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Mr. P. A. Delano, residing near Wicomico Church. The happy young couple will reside at Mila, where Mr. Connelly is in business.

At St. John's Episcopal church, Tappahannock, at 5 o'clock Wednesday, December 19th, Miss Emma Christian Cauthorn became the bride of Mr. Allen D. Latane. The church was tastefully decorated and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Meade. The bride was handsomely attired in white silk, and entered the church upon the arm of Mr. J. C. Phillips, her brother-in-law, preceded by her bridesmaid, Miss Alice Mallory. Hon. James M. Lewis attended the groom. The bride is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Cauthorn, of Tappahannock, and the groom a owner and editor of the Tidewater Democrat. After the ceremony the couple left by steamer for a bridal tour.

STORY OF A BOTTLE.

The practical bottle joker is so rampant in our land and on water that newspapers now give little credence to messages in bottles picked up at sea. The following message was last week found in a bottle washed ashore near Monakon, and our readers can take it for what it strikes them as being worth: "For God sake! publish, please publish this in the VIRGINIA CITIZEN. We are lost on the schooner Norman R. Captain Will Hudnell, mate Rock and other crew."

NORTHUMBERLAND CO.

The Christmas tree and entertainment at the chapel was a decided success.

A house-boat from Newark, N. J., stopped at Wacker's factory for harbor last week and was unable to get away for several days on account of rough weather. The owners, Messrs. Dey, with their families, were en route to North Carolina.

Willard and Josie Lankford are domiciled "under their own vine and fig tree." The young people gave Miss Tillie Davis a surprise party Thursday night. A very enjoyable evening was spent.

Miss Bettie Harding entertained a number of her friends Thursday night. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crowther, Miss Janie Lankford and Messrs. Clay Crowther and Kirk Simms are visiting in Fairfield.

IN MEMORIAM.

CHRISTOPHER.—Mary Josephine Harding Christopher, wife of J. R. Christopher and daughter of the late Lucius Harding, departed this life at the age of 42 years on the 23 day of October, 1906. Far away from her loved ones suddenly and so sadly was the candle of life snuffed out, but the spiritual candle was burning brightly to the last moment. "One moment in Time, the other in Eternity." Truly can it be said of "Miss Malie" that she was a woman among women, loved and admired by all with whom she came in contact. She had a sweet loving disposition and a beautiful character which will live ever after as an example of a true faith in the love of Jesus. The record of a good life speaks for itself and its influence will be felt long after words are forgotten. For years she was the faithful secretary of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Rehoboth Church, and for several years was president of the same society. She was always interested in everything pertaining to the church, always generous and willing to lend a hand in the cause of Christ. She will be greatly missed in the church, Sabbath school, home and community. We can only say, with her bereaved husband and son, "Thy will, O Lord, not mine be done." She leaves a husband, one son, David, and a host of friends to mourn their loss.

For 33 years she was a faithful member of Rehoboth church, always in her place when her health would permit. Never again will her melodious voice be heard singing in the church choir, but if God's word be true her voice is even now ringing triumphantly in the Heavenly choir.

Her pastor, Rev. Porter Hardy, conducted the funeral services, and with loving hands she was laid to rest in the cemetery at Rehoboth Church.

A FRIEND.

It pleased God to take from our home on October 23, 1906, my beloved wife, Mary J. H. Christopher. She was a woman of deep piety, an ardent and zealous worker in her church and the societies of which she was a member.

Her high intellectual attainments and love of literature, added to her fine manners, enabled her to be very entertaining in any society.

She leaves a heart-broken husband, a son and many relatives and friends to mourn their loss, and while she now sleeps in the arms of Jesus her loved ones can comfort themselves with the blissful thought of meeting her in the Sweet Bye-and-bye.

HER HUSBAND.

In sad but loving remembrance of Fletcher Boswell, who died Thursday, December 27th, 1906, after an illness of about five weeks. He leaves a heart-broken father and mother, a loving sister and a devoted brother, besides a host of sorrowing friends to mourn his death. He was laid to rest in White Marsh cemetery on Saturday. He will be sadly missed in White Marsh Sunday school, of which he was a faithful scholar.

Dear Fletcher, how we miss you, In our earthly home below, But in Heaven we hope to meet you, Where no farewell tears e'er flow.

Thou art gone, but not forgotten, In this great world of strife, Thou shalt always be remembered, As long as God gives us life.

And when our trials on earth are o'er— Oh! save us by Thy Grace— And bear us to that Celestial shore, Where we shall meet him face to face.

By his Sunday school friend, LUMMIE D. MCKENNEY.

WISE COUNSEL FROM THE SOUTH. "I want to give some valuable advice to those who suffer with lame back and kidney trouble," says J. R. Blankenship, of Beck, Tenn. "I have proved to an absolute certainty that Electric Bitters will positively cure this distressing condition. The first bottle gave me great relief and after taking a few more bottles, I was completely cured; so completely that it becomes a pleasure to recommend this great remedy."

E. C. Richardson, Kilmarnock; T. J. Haydock & Son, Irvington; Ficklin & Bass, Litwallow. Price 50c.

REV. CONNELLY HAS FIRE LOSS.

From some cause unknown the kitchen attached to Rev. G. M. Connelly's residence, near 1906, Richmond county, caught fire on December 21st and was entirely consumed. The dwelling and furniture were saved by great effort, though they sustained some damage, the porches being burned away. Loss about $400, with $240 insurance in the Northern Neck Mutual Fire association, which was promptly paid some days since.

Damages to Mrs. Mary J. Hall's residence, in the same vicinity, were recently repaired by the Irvington association.
